Dear,

It has been awhile
Since the last time
I saw you

You’ve been swimming breaststroke
One arm forward
Then the other arm forward
As you splash across the pool
In order to
Swim away from Summer
Who has been chasing you for months
Everyday you swim
Farther and farther away
From Summer

But Summer was replaced
By Winter
Winter is lazy
So the chase ended
And you stopped swimming

It has been awhile
Since the last time
I saw you

But

When Winter closes its eyes
And falls asleep
Spring opens its eyes
And wakes up
Stretching your muscles
You start warming up
For the chase to begin

I will see you again
And tell you

I miss you
