Sad Frog?

The frog stares down into the air with what can only be described as a human emotion.
He wears a frown that can only be taken as sadness.

Why is he feeling sad?
Was he not able to catch the fly he wanted or did he failed to attract mates
after he sang his mating call.

As he continuously stares
One can only wonder what he is thinking about or what he is feeling…

But we’re humans,
we wouldn’t be able to understand frogs.
